

Manshing Tse

Chief Ethics Officer

Manshing Tse is responsible for ensuring that all AIIB personnel observe and perform their functions consistent with the ethical standards required by the Code of Conduct for Bank Personnel.

Since joining the Bank's Ethics Office as a consultant in September 2019, Tse has contributed to policy development, policy compliance and provided advice on all matters relating to ethics to ensure that Board Officials and Bank Personnel observe and perform their functions consistent with the ethical standards required by their respective Code of Conduct.

Before joining the Bank, Tse served the Hong Kong Government for 40 years with rich experience in the field of ethics. From 2010 to 2016, he was the former Director of Corruption Prevention of the Hong Kong Independent Commission Against Corruption, promoting clean governance of Hong Kong through the promulgation of the sample code of conduct to be observed by all public officers in Hong Kong. He also handled complaints from prisoners in the capacity of the Official Justice of the Peace since 2008. In his previous employments, he had dealt with professional misconduct of teaching staff in Hong Kong particularly in relation to violence, sexual harassment and sexual abuse of students and served as prosecutor for professional misconduct cases for all medical practitioners and dentists in Hong Kong under the relevant chapters of the Law of Hong Kong. He has an undergraduate degree in Business Administration from the Chinese University of Hong Kong and a Post-graduate Diploma in Personnel Management from the London School of Economics. Tse is a national of the People's Republic of China.